

Hospital announces new physician

Middle Tennessee Medical Center recently announced a new physician to its medical staff.

Nicholas Coté has joined MTMC specializing in Osteopathic Manipulative Medicine, a specialty involving the manipulation of the spine and soft tissues of the body.

Coté graduated from A.T. Still University-Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine in Kirksville, Mo. During his training, Coté was selected to be the Pioneer at the Pilot Training Site for third- and fourth-year medical students for the partner-ship between Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine and Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Ill.

Coté is located at the Murfreesboro Medical Clinic at 1004 N. Highland Ave.
